About us

We are delighted to welcome you to David Game Higher Education

DGHE is the Higher Education division of David Game College. David Game College (DGC) was founded in 1974 and has consistently delivered the best quality teaching to ensure student success. Nearly half a century after its foundation, the David Game College Group has grown into one of the UK's leading independent providers of education, offering courses within the UK and abroad. Registered with the Office for Students (OfS), DGC has been awarded the QAA Quality Mark for meeting or exceeding UK expectations for quality and standards.

David Game Higher Education (DGHE) offers a vibrant, practical and inclusive learning environment that aims to support students to thrive, reach their full potential and advance their careers. Since DGHE's foundation in 2013, the College has evolved to deliver high-quality, empowering education. We welcome students from all backgrounds and employ lecturers who offer both industry experience and exceptional teaching talent.

At DGHE, we offer a range of Bachelor's degrees - Levels 4, 5 & 6 - Foundation courses, Top-Ups and BTEC Higher National Certificates (HNCs) and Diplomas (HNDs) - Levels 4 & 5 - specialising in Business Management, Health & Social Care, Public Services, Criminology & Criminal Justice, Art & Design, and Visual Communication.

The college is proud to be a career-building steppingstone to all our students that strive for personal and professional success. Students and alumni are given access to personalised Careers Services; our career counsellor is available to support current and graduated students in their job search or to discuss any other career-related matters.

The college also takes seriously our responsibility to provide mental health services and pastoral care to students and staff. We seek to nurture a supportive learning environment, through small classes and one-to-one tutelage. DGHE also has our own Wellbeing department, in which a professional counsellor is always available to assist our community in coping with the stresses of school and modern life. In addition, we provide further access and participation support to those with learning difficulties through financial assistance and study aids. We are always organising activities, online and offline, to ensure every member of our community receives the care we need. Those who choose to study at DGHE will find a welcome and enriching environment to do their best.

We look forward in welcoming you to DGHE.

Supporting your studies

At David Game College, students are at the heart of everything we do. The College student services and welfare teams are always available for you. In or out of the classroom we will do all we can to support you throughout your time with us.

Career Advice

Our dedicated careers and employability advisor is available to support all our students and our alumni in developing the skills you need to market yourself to potential employers, and to provide you guidance in identifying a suitable career plan. This service can also help you to prepare for interviews and selection tests.

Health and Wellbeing

The College takes pride in the quality of the teaching and pastoral care provided to its students. DGHE has a support system in place to give you the help and guidance you may require during any period of hardship, stress or anxiety. Appointments with a trained welfare officer can be arranged quickly and conveniently.

Disability Support

DGHE recognise the importance to maintain a truly inclusive and caring learning environment for all students and welcomes applications from people with disabilities. If you have a disability or a long-term health condition, we will do everything we can to make sure you have equal opportunities to learn and take part in all aspects of student life. Any information provided will be kept strictly confidential and will only be used to support you with your studies.

Pre-sessional English Course

DGHE Pre-sessional English Course is designed to improve your academic English to be ready for your studies. It is intended for students who are planning to study for an HND or degree BA (Hons) at DGHE but do not meet the English language requirement of their conditional offer. Taking a Pre-Sessional English course will not only help you improve your language skills, but it will also help you with your studies and research, and give you more confidence as you prepare to start your course.

Drop-in Sessions

Drop-in sessions are a space, timetabled on a termly basis, dedicated to you for one-to-one support. These are arranged and supported by your course or module leader.

Assessment Workshop

An assessment workshop is a one-hour slot with your lecturer that is dedicated to help you clarify questions regarding your course assignments and provide a space for informal feedback and peer discussion.

Study Skills Support

Classroom-based and as an additional online module, study skills are provided by the College to enhance each student's learning opportunities. This module contributes to the development of academic writing and research skills.

Library

Our growing library also accommodates support sessions for those who wish to consolidate their learning further. You will be able to ask quick questions and arrange one-to-one appointments for in-depth assistance of academic research and referencing skills with our esteemed Librarian.

“ Choosing to study at DGHE was one of the best decisions. I study Graphic Design and I couldn't be more grateful to my wonderful lecturers. I am getting all the essential skills and knowledge that will be absolutely needed to build a successful career within the creative industries. ”

What is this course about?

The Higher National Diploma in Art & Design at David Game College is a fast-track pathway to a successful career in the creative industries.

The Graphic Design specialist pathways provide an introduction into a wide range of graphic disciplines, allowing you to specialise in whichever aspect of the graphic design industry you wish to pursue.

You will learn and work with the most up to date digital software (Adobe Suite), studying a range of modules that develop skills in digital design, typography, branding, infographics, packaging, motion graphics, illustration and editorial design. You will also be further prepared by core skills development in professional practice, contextual research studies and visual communication, be given the chance to respond to professional briefs and be taught by specialist tutors and visiting lecturers who are all working within the industry.

The course is delivered via a combination of Mac studio classes, practical workshops, lectures, one-to-one tutorials as well as field trips taking in galleries, street art, and museums.

Study Options

This HND programme is offered as a full-time study programme for two years as standard. This course is taught at our London campus with a flexible timetable structure. DGHE art and design students are treated as individuals and are encouraged to develop specialist areas of interest. The smaller class sizes (10-15) allow the tutors to get to know the students and offer personalised guidance throughout their tuition.

Teaching & Learning

Our academic team have extensive industry and academic experience that enhances the delivery of the course allowing for practical application in today's demands of employers in the creative sector. The course is delivered via a combination of practical workshops, lectures, one-to-one tutorials as well as field trips to galleries and museums.

Assessments Methods

Formative assessment is a continuous component of the programme. Your coursework will develop into a working portfolio and select pieces will feature in a final year exhibition. Alongside practical projects, you will also be assessed with group presentations, case studies and reflective academic essays. You will be expected to commit at least 150 notional hours towards completing the learning outcomes per unit. This usually consists of a combination of direct teaching time and independent study time (e.g. preparations for research, assessments and background reading).

Career Prospects

The focus on specialist pathways, at Level 4 and Level 5, provides students with a clear set of skills and goals for further study or entering employment areas such as: Graphic Design • Advertising • Branding • Print Production • Web Design • Animation • Illustration • Magazines & Publishing • Fashion studios.
